

Example in the Life of Christ

Read Philippians 2:5-8

God wants to direct all of our ways. When we truly know who God is, only then do we realize how insignificant we are. Jesus generously completely submits to God the Father, allowing Him to direct His every step. When we trust in God and His sovereignty, we must totally lean on Him, and seek His will. Jesus dedicates His life for the Kingdom of God. There is no joy in the life of a believer when selfishness and pride are a part of life. We do not see any selfish act from the life of Jesus, but we see acts of a servant. We see Jesus putting everyone before Himself. As believers and followers of Christ, it is so important to put others first.

These verses show the attitude we should try to emulate. Christ had every reason in this world to be prideful; however, there were no moments of pride. Christ came from a perfect place to a place of suffering and death. The sacrifice of Christ can never be repaid, but through our lives we can strive to be more like Him. We can honor Him with our generous acts of kindness and genuine love for others.

What did Jesus do? When Jesus came to earth, He was totally God and totally man. He gave all to be the remission for our sins. Jesus taught us how to make a difference in this world, how to put others first, how to consider the sacrifice that was made, and how to live the life that honors Him.
